

Associate in Applied Science DegreeMajor: ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICE TECHNOLOGY

The Administrative Office Technology degree prepares students to work in the modern office environment as administrative office professionals and office managers. Graduates of this program will have the customer-service, communication, Internet, software, and office-management skills to be efficient and effective office associates, able to prepare documents and spreadsheets, manage meetings and events, and communicate with colleagues and clients.

While some of the courses in the Administrative Office Technology degree program transfer to a senior institution, this degree is not designed as a "transfer" degree, but, rather, is a career degree that prepares you for employment.

Horry Georgetown Technical College is nationally accredited by the Association of Collegiate Business Schools and Programs (ACBSP), 7007 College Blvd., Suite 420, Overland Park, Kansas 66211, (913) 339-9356, www.acbsp.org, for the offering of the Associate Degrees in Accounting, Business Administration and Administrative Office Technology. Students interested in reviewing the accreditation documents may view them in the Academic Deans' Office.

PROGRAM INFORMATIONCourse Sequence and Progression Requirements

A minimum grade of C or better is required for all AOT-prefixed courses for progression and graduation. Most Administrative Office Technology (AOT) courses are offered only once each year, so following the recommended course sequence is extremely important.
